

‘Notice, what notice?’

A rare glimpse of these kingfishers reveals they are beautiful, valuable and elusive — but they cannot read.

The four young birds perching on the No Fishing sign at Pensthorpe Waterfowl Park are oblivious to the ban on their daily ritual.

This amusing scene was captured by Fakenham photographer Martin Smith for a 15-minute educational video. Mr Smith, 37, took six months to film the video, which will be shown in schools and to groups of children visiting the park. TV actress Lisa Goddard, commentator for A Day In The Life of Pensthorpe, talks about the history of the park and the variety of wildlife found in the area.
